For the anomalous 'ab + genitive case' see Steinby (op. cit. p. 122) who now records a freedman, Cocceius Aug. I. Primigenius, in place of the previous 'Cocceia Aug. lib. Primigenia, thus (convincingly) eliminating the one female officinator in the brick industry from the Familia Caesaris.	Rome P Ostia: I P

Speratus would have been the child of a previous partner, a Flavia, already manumitted if she were an Imperial freedwoman.	Monte Torretto:III Museo di Potenza A B H

His status as Aug. lib., though assumed by Mommsen, CIL ad loc., is not certain; if freed by the reigning emperor Nerva, his senior rank as trierarch could date to the early 2nd century (cf.
