	*This collegial-type dedication to Caracalla in AD 198 is by 24 teaching staff (paedagogi) of the elite school on the Caelian known as the a capite Africae / ad caput Africae for training slaves of the imperial household for careers in the administrative and Palatine domestic service. These paedagogi are all freedmen, evidently imperial freedmen, although without the full status indication 'Aug(g.) lib.', as also are the two procurators in charge, Eumenianus and Saturninus, who are assumed to be senior freedmen. Six identify themselves as vernae , having been born as slaves within the imperial household, as no doubt by this period had been most of the slave pupils of the establishment. On imperial paedagogi and the ad Caput Africae , see Mohler 264ff.

	Two imperial freedmen, M. Aurelius Branito (b.22) and M. Aurelius Maximus (b.5)([2151]), appear in a list of 46 members of the priestly ordo sacerdotum domus Augustae Palatinae from the late 2nd C. comprising 3 curatores (?), 15 clarissimi viri who are patrons of senatorial rank, 10 decem primi or leading members, and 18 ordinary members of the ordo . Among the list of clarissimi viri is the consular Vitrasius Pol(l)io, cos. II 176; Septimius Antipater, however, is not the sophist Antipater from Hierapolis (Philostratus, Vit. Soph. 2.24.2) who rose from equestrian status to become consul and governor of Bithynia under

	Septimius Severus (as suggested at CIL 6, p. 452 n.) who was Aelius Antipater (Thomasson, LP 27. 51). Of the decem primi five are equestrians (egregii viri), one an imperial freedman, (2151), and one non-imperial freedman, D. Fol(ius) Chrysogonus (b.7). The 18 other members of the order include 4 egregii viri and one imperial freedman, M. Aur. Branito. Overall there are 14 Aurelii named in the inscription, of whom five are equestrians and only two have the imperial freedman status indication. Apart from the senatorial Aelius Saoterus (1726*), there is one other Aelius, T. Ael. Agathopus, an ordinary member who is not evidently an imperial freedman. The generally high status of the members of such a priestly order in the domus Augustae need not surprise. More noteworthy is the fact that nearly one in three of these, across all classes, have a cognomen of Greek derivation. Of 14 priests with the nomen 'Aurelius', only 2 (14%) have the imperial freedman status indication, while 5 (35%) are equestrians. The suggestion (CIL 6, p 452) that these priests are drawn from officials of the imperial household on the Palatine is thus problematical.

	*This collegial-type dedication to Caracalla in AD 198 is by 24 teaching staff (paedagogi) of the elite school on the Caelian known as the a capite Africae / ad caput Africae for training slaves of the imperial household for careers in the administrative and Palatine domestic service. These paedagogi are all freedmen, evidently imperial freedmen, although without the full status indication 'Aug(g.) lib.', as also are the two procurators in charge, Eumenianus and Saturninus, who are assumed to be senior freedmen, with Eumenianus as deputy to Saturninus; cf. Boulvert (1) 297. Six identify themselves as being originally vernae , i.e. born as slaves within the imperial household, as no doubt also most of the slave pupils of the establishment had been by this period. On imperial paedagogi and the ad Caput Africae , see Mohler 264ff.
